

Our Company

“The Chinese Industry has evolved rapidly, built on a foundation of hundreds of thousands of small unregulated factories and farms. Even when the Chinese government expresses a willingness to act, it may lack the resources, experience and personnel to carry through on its intentions”&hellip;. Jay Timmons, Senior Vice President, National Association of Manufacturers, told the US Senate Commerce Committee in mid-July 2007.

InspectChina is organized to manage emerging suppliers since 1982, beginning with new and established suppliers in Taiwan, South Korea, Philippines, Thailand, Hong Kong, Malaysia, India, Mexico and now inside Vietnam. InspectChina is a member of the AMREP SUPPLIER MANAGEMENT SERVICES group. AMREP deals with the suppliers’s issues of materials, services and product inputs. InspectChina supplier inspection services is structured on a pyramidal team structure of quality auditors, production supervisors and quality inspectors. These are experienced, skilled and work trained product, technical and quality specialists on consumable products with keen knowledge of production, quality and delivery control to address the problems raised by Jay Simmons. InspectChina teams are China-wide located focusing on production control, final inspection, preshipment inspection and quality assurance services in China.

Supplier Management Professionals and Supplier Management Departments are commonly measured in terms of amount of money saved for the organization. InspectChina vendor inspections and supply quality management is measured in the same way.
